

- Course Tools
- Course Content
- Announcements
- Assessments +
- Calendar
- Chat
- Discussions
- Learning Modules
- Media Library
- Web Links
- Who's Online
- Audio recordings
- My Tools
- My Grades
- My Progress

Your location: Home Page

INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY I

Unit Information

Read this first. All you need to know about studying PSYC101

Module 1 - The study of Psychology An introduction

Module 2 - Research methods in psychology

How psychologists generate answers to important life questions

Module 3 - Biological Bases of Behaviour

The contribution of brain, genetics and environment to our physical and psychological attributes

Module 4 - Sensation and Perception

How we make sense of the buzz of stimulation - sights, sounds, smells - constantly around us

Module 5 - Consciousness

The nature of consciousness, sleep and dreams and their importance to our lives

Module 6 - Learning

How we learn from our experiences in the world

Module 7 - Memory

Why we remember so much, yet forget a little, of what we have known

Module 8 - Intelligence

What is intelligence and how is it measured?