Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Data Collection

Dear Staff Member

I am writing to ask for your cooperation in the collection of EEO data.

Why is EEO data important?

EEO means that this organisation values the diversity of the people who work for it and is committed to employment practices which are fair to everyone. The EEO information we collect from staff lets us see if our EEO policies are making our organisation a better place to work. The information you give us on this form will help us to implement fair and equitable personnel policies and strategies to meet the needs of all of our staff.

What will happen to the information you provide?

Completing the EEO data collection form is voluntary, however we would appreciate your help.

Your staff number and name are requested at the top of the EEO Data Collection Form so that we can store the information on the staff data base and link it to other information such as level of appointment and employment basis, to produce summary EEO statistics. In addition to informing us about the level of participation of Equity groups, summary information is provided to relevant state and federal government agencies as part of the University's statutory reporting requirements. The information you provide will be treated confidentially and will not be used in a way which allows you to be identified.

Staff members who access EEO data information are bound by the Privacy Act Guidelines to protect the confidentiality of your details.

You have the right to view and update the information you provide. If you wish to do so at some later date, please contact the EE&D Officer, University of New England.

Completing the form

Please answer the questions on the EEO Data Collection Form and return it in the envelope provided. However, if you do not wish to supply this information please note this on the form, with your name and staff number. Return it for our records and you will not be contacted again.
