Terms and Conditions for residents returning to the UNE Residential System during COVID-19 restrictions

In submitting this application, I have read and understood the following:

- This application to return to college is not a guarantee of a place until I receive an offer.
- Residents will be required to adhere to social distancing rules and remain extra vigilant in keeping movements restricted to help protect themselves and others in the residential community.
- If offered a place, a condition of return will be the successful completion of a Return to College induction module.
- Security and police will be patrolling the colleges to ensure resident safety and monitor social distancing protocols are being maintained.
- Any behaviours/social activities/gatherings which breach the social distancing rules (as outlined in the Return to College induction module) will constitute a serious breach of the Residential Code of Conduct and may result in exclusion from the Residential System for the remainder of the Trimester.
- There will be no return to college/Tri 2 orientation and social programmes.
- The college experience will be very different to what it has been in the past due to social distancing rules.
- Returning to my own college building is not guaranteed, although I do understand that wherever I may be placed, it will be with my own college community.
- Access to common rooms and communal facilities, such as kitchens, will be strictly controlled to comply with social distancing requirements.
- Meals served in dining halls will be staggered to restrict numbers at any one time and there may be an increase in the number of meals served at catered colleges.
- The University is actively planning for the most likely scenario that the majority of teaching for Trimester 2 will continue online.
