Further information on APA (7th edition) referencing

APA style APA style blog APA \(7th ed.\) Quick Reference Guide

1. For APA referencing subjects, APA requires page or paragraph numbers for in-text references for ALL direct quotations in assignments. Check with your unit coordinator if you are unsure.
2. For Business & Linguistics units, use page numbers for ALL direct quotations AND paraphrases.
3. For all reference lists, type the title References on new page/plain text/centred /same size text as essay

ALL reference list entries have 4 parts: AUTHOR, DATE, TITLE, SOURCE.

1. Variations in authors, dates, editions

1.1 Single author In-text: write the author's surname only. Do not use academic credentials and professional titles except for religious officials and nobility e.g. Pope Francis References: use surname followed by initials	In-text Business &amp; Linguistics use p. or pp. or para.	The idea of progress is much overrated (Addington, 1994). Addington (1994) states that the idea of progress is much overrated. Business &amp; Linguistics examples The idea of progress is much overrated (Addington, 1994, pp. 32-33). Addington (1994, pp. 32-33) states that the idea of progress is much overrated.
1.2 Two authors In-text: • always cite both surnames • use 'and' between authors that are not in brackets • use ampersand (&amp;) between authors that are in brackets. References: use &amp; between authors	In-text Business &amp; Linguistics use p. or pp. or para.	Holper and Torok (2008) claim . . . 1.3 More than two authors In-text: • name the FIRST author in-text followed by 'et al.' (which means and others) after the first author's name References: • name all authors up to and including 20th author with an '&amp;' preceded by a comma for last author • if MORE than 20 authors, name the first 19 followed by three dots ... then the last author on the list	In-text Business &amp; Linguistics use p. or pp. or para.	MacKay et al. 1.4 Multiple works by the same author In-text: • use a, b, c to differentiate between works written in the same year by the same author; use alphabetical order according to the title of the work • use author and date in-text for whole of study summaries References: for the year, use same format as the in-text reference	In-text Summaries do not require p. or pp. or para.	In her first study, Sheldon (1996) supports the theory, but her two later studies (1999a, 1999b) modify this claim.
1.5 Authors with the same surname (a) co-authors of one work (b) separate works In-text (b): for surnames repeated in different references, use initials in-text to tell the authors apart. ## 2. Variations in writing web links

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The DOI or URL is a source locator, i.e. where to find the source online.</li> <li>• Include a DOI for all works that have a DOI (regardless of whether you have the print or online version)</li> <li>• If there is no DOI, the URL should link directly to the cited work.</li> <li>• NEVER use a URL in-text except to refer to complete website in passing e.g. Maths.Quiz (https://www.mathsisfun.html) has a games approach.</li> </ul>
2.1 DOI (Digital Object Identifier) A DOI provides a permanent link to the document's location on the Internet. The DOI is located on the first page of the electronic article	DOI – For DOIs use this format only; e.g. if you see doi:10.1177/1084822305284310, it becomes https://doi.org/10.1177/1084822305284310 (URL with a doi embedded) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• IF a source has a DOI, use the DOI reference even if you are using the print version</li> <li>• IF an online work has both a DOI and a URL, use only the DOI.</li> <li>• It is permissible to leave hyperlinks live in reference list entries</li> <li>• There is no full stop at the end of a doi reference.</li> </ul>
	2.2 URL (Uniform Resource Locator) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• URL is next choice if there is no DOI.</li> <li>• a source from an academic research database or a site requiring a login (e.g. the library website) which has NO DOI, do not include a URL or database information in the reference. Instead, write a reference that is the same as a print version of the work</li> <li>• if a URL no longer works, do not put the source in the reference list</li> </ul>
2.3 CHANGING WEBSITES if the webpage content is designed to change over time put n.d. for the year. Add a retrieval date BEFORE the URL.	DO NOT USE A URL FOR WORKS RETRIEVED FROM DATA BASE Examples of academic research databases and platforms include APA PsycNET, PsycINFO, Academic Search Complete, CINAHL, Ebook Central, EBSCOhost, Google Scholar, JSTOR, Ezyproxy, ), MEDLINE, Nexis Uni, Ovid, ProQuest, PubMed Central, Science Direct, Scopus, Web of Science e.g. Source downloaded from library website with EZYPROXY link - NO URL required at all Aarts, B., Chalker, S., & Weiner, E.
