AGSS New Academic Introduction

Dr. Fiona Tang

Biography

Fiona recently started at UNE as a lecturer in Soil Water Dynamics. Prior to that, she held a postdoc position at the University of Sydney, and later at the Swedish University of Agricultural Science (SLU). Fiona has a research background in environmental modelling, with a focus on soil carbon and nitrogen cycles, and pesticide contamination. She is interested in understanding how anthropogenic forcing and changes in climate patterns can alter environmental fate of nutrients and contaminants.
